80% of the roofing companies that posted signs in your neighborhood will NOT be around in 2 years.

90% will NEVER see their 5th Birthday.

We know its a nuisance when you get 10 people per day knocking on your door after a hail storm. We respect your privacy and want to help you though this difficult and overwhelming time. Some things to keep in mind when looking for a roofer:

Do They Do Good Business? Simply Google the "Company Name" and "Colorado BBB" to find out their time in business? Are they listed? Do they have a good rating (A or A+)? Have they ever had any complaints?

Are They Pre-Screened by Anyone? A number of companies will screen contractors. Team Dave Logan is one of them. Make sure an independent third-party agrees that they are a good company.

Do Customers Like Them Enough to Review Them? Getting real reviews is hard work. Anonymous reviewers can't always be trusted. Also be wary of companies that have too many reviews that all sound similar.

Do They Employ Coloradoans? When you use a roofer with an office in another state, you are sending money out of the Colorado economy. That money would be better served to employ Coloradoans.
